U.S. Army Seizes Aircraft Plant; To Rehire Men with No Regard for Past Record

Roosevelt Issues Order Directing Operation to Prevent Halt in Production of Vital Defense Material

Bendix, N. J., Oct. 31—(AP)—The army seized the plant of Air Associates, Inc., today and won cheers from both factions in a bitter labor fight with an announcement that it would rehire men without regard for the past.

President Roosevelt issued last night an executive order directing that the army take over and operate the plant, saying the dispute threatened to halt production of vital defense material.

Secretary of War Stimson set the troops in motion. More than 2,000 soldiers with steel helmets, naked bayonets and machine guns formed a human ring around the plant, deployed throughout nearby fields or idled wearily in the vicinity. Few had slept.

Despite the show of force only the machine guns were loaded. Officers had orders that not a bullet was to be in any rifle or pistol.

Watched by Troops
At the nearby Hasbrouck Railroad, C.I.O. strikers formed on one side of a drive way and non-strikers massed on the other. A line of troops with fixed bayonets, gas bombs and a machine gun eyed both groups.

Into this tense scene rode Col. Roy M. Jones, eastern district supervisor for the Air Corps Procurement Division, who took charge of the plant.

"This plant is an important plant to national defense," he told the crowd. "We propose to open the plant and we will need workers to do so. We are going to set up an employment agency just as soon as we can complete the necessary inventory. I am asking you in the name of the president of the United States as good citizens to support me."

He then expressed hope there would be jobs for all and said they would be rehired regardless of past difficulties. The tension broke and cheers resounded.

"Ready for Work"
Loren J. Houser, eastern regional director of the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers of America, aviation division said his men were ready for work and full cooperation with the army. Robert E. Fowler, company public relations director, said he and President F. LeRoy Hill would report to see whether they would be rehired.

With 700 workers, the plant is comparatively small in the New Jersey industrial picture. But its products are essential for Martin bombers, Brewster dive-bombers, Airacobra fighters and other war-craft. It holds $5,000,000 in defense contracts.

A clash between returning C.I.O. strikers and non-union workers precipitated the president's action, the third time the federal government has taken over production stopped or threatened by labor disputes.

Colonel Ralph W. Wilson of Fort Hancock said 2,100 troops were on the scene.

Reds Say Attacks On Moscow Slacken

Moscow, Oct. 31—(AP)—The Tass agency declared today that the German onslaught against the defenses of Moscow had dwindled away to attacks by small detachments except on the northwest flank, where the nazis continued a strong offensive with infantry and tanks.

Even there, the news agency reported in a broadcast, heavy Red army fire and repeated counter attacks checked the German advance.

Along Moscow's western and southwestern fronts Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov's forces were said not only to have held their defense positions but in some salients to have improved them.

Behind the German lines another Russian guerrilla leader, known only as "The Raven" was added to the lists of swift-striking raiders whose steadily increasing operations were described by the Russians as striking terror to scattered German garrisons and

Twenty Persons Die As Plane Crashes In Ontario Last Night

All Victims Were From U. S.; Bound From New York to Chicago

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 31—(AP)—All 20 occupants of an American Airlines transport were killed last night when the big plane plowed into the earth 14 miles west of here and burst into such fierce flames that no attempt at rescue could be made.

The 17 passengers and three members of the crew of the 21-passenger Douglas airliner were all from the United States, bound through a drizzling rain on the Buffalo-Detroit leg of a regular flight from New York to Chicago. Twenty-seven-year-old Mary E. Blackley of New York City, the stewardess, was the only woman victim.

There was no immediate explanation for the disaster, the second within a day to befall a United States air transport and the worst air disaster in Canadian history.

With 20 dead here and 14 killed early yesterday morning in the crash of a Northwest Airlines plane near Moorhead, Minn., the day was the most disastrous in loss of life of any in the history of American commercial aviation.

Visibility was poor when the plane, on its course, crashed at about 10:30 p. m., on the farm of Thompson Howe at Lawrence Station.

Due In Detroit at 10:17 P. M.
It was due at Detroit at 10:17 p. m. on the run from Buffalo, one leg of a flight which began at La Guardia Field, New York, with Chicago as its final destination.

When the plane struck, there was one big explosion followed by a series of smaller ones. Flaming gasoline gushed out.

Before Howe could reach it, several hundred yards from his house, it was engulfed in flames. Farmers, provincial police from St. Thomas and officers from the Royal Canadian Air Force school at nearby Fingal, who arrived quickly, were powerless to aid.

One report said all the victims perished inside the plane.

Lewis Biddle, a Lawrence station storekeeper who was one of the first at the scene, however, said three bodies tumbled outside.

Vichy French Ignore Standstill Request

DeGaulle Asks People To Protest Against Occupation

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Oct. 31—(AP)—The population of Vichy, capital of the Petain regime, today virtually ignored the Free French request for a five-minute standstill demonstration in protest against the German execution of hostages.

The call for the demonstration was issued by Gen. Charles De Gaulle, Free French leader, in London last Saturday. For five minutes today, beginning at 4 p. m. (9 a. m. S.T.C.) Frenchmen were asked to stand still at their occupations in silent protest against the German punitive measures.

The ministry of the interior reported late today that it had made a checkup of various sections in the unoccupied zone and that the De Gaulle appeal had had no apparent results. The ministry said no unusual incidents were reported anywhere.

A P. Survey at Vichy
On a survey of Vichy, Associated Press correspondents saw only six persons observing the De Gaulle order. They were five men and

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO, RESIGNS HIS POST

Washington, Oct. 31—(AP)—President Roosevelt has accepted the resignation of Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico.

The chief executive, in announcing this to a press conference today, said that of all the people who had been at foreign posts in Latin America in the last 8½ years, he thought Daniels had done more to encourage and live up to the good neighbor policy than any.

The president said there had been a great improvement in American-Mexican relations, which he declared were now on a basis of understanding and friendship, since 1933.

The chief executive had nothing to say about a successor, but said he had suggested that Daniels return to Mexico City to say farewell to associates and officials. The ambassador, who was navy secretary in the World War and had the president as his assistant, said he submitted his resignation because of the poor health of his wife.

The War Today!

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt MacKenzie, is written today by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

The Druids thought that Hal-lowe'en was the vigil of Saman, Lord of Death. On this Hallow-e'en, just before the ink fingers of the blackout close over their tragedy and despair, Frenchmen are being summoned to five minutes of silent reproach of the new lords of death for the mass killing of unconvicted hostages.

From across the channel in England, the Free French have called upon their captive brothers and sisters to condemn, with the hush of the graveyard, the decrees of Nantes and Bordeaux which exacted 100 French lives for two fatal attacks on uniformed officers of the German army of occupation.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle says the French nation will show, by standing silent for five minutes beginning at 4 p. m., French time, "that despite insult, torture and treachery, despite her imprisoned youth, her little children who are dying, France is preparing for vengeance."

The French, who know now that their armies never had a chance to fight the invader, thus are called upon to prove by national silence that the battle now is on.

BULLETINS!

BERLIN COMMENT
Berlin, Oct. 31—(AP)—If the United States destroyer Reuben James was participating in a convoy "it was no wonder that she was torpedoed", an authorized source said tonight.

"A convoy is an English affair and whoever participates in it becomes part of an English formation," it was declared.

"I am certainly glad it was not our U-boat that was sunk but rather the American destroyer that was torpedoed," the spokesman added. "American destroyers have no business entering the war zone."

A MISTAKE, MAYBE?
London, Oct. 31—(AP)—The belief was expressed in informed quarters here today that the submarine which sank the American destroyer Reuben James might have mistaken her for one which had been transferred by the United States to the British.

They said her appearance roughly corresponded with the former American ships now in the Royal Navy.

The admiralty declined comment.

Washington, Oct. 31—(AP)—Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill.) commenting on the sinking of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James, asserted today that the incident was "further proof of a well designed Hitler scheme and terrorist plan to drive all naval and merchant vessels, regardless of nationality, off the Atlantic ship lanes."

WILL CONSIDER MINE DISPUTE VERY CAREFULLY

Washington, Oct. 31—(AP)—Chairman William H. Davis, of the defense mediation board, advised President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers today that the board would consider the captive coal mine dispute "carefully, calmly, and not under pressure" of a November 15 strike deadline.

As the board broke up its morning session on the dispute, arranging to return later today, Davis told a press conference:

"I think that to set a deadline on any proceeding of this character is an undesirable thing to do since it puts the board under pressure."

At the same time he made public a letter to Lewis acknowledging receipt of notice that the new truce in the captive mines would terminate November 15.

"The assurance given by the president to the United States Steel Corporation and the United Mine Workers of America in his letter of October 29 is 'that the full board is meeting on Friday, and will be prepared to consider the matter continuously until it makes its final recommendations,'" Davis' letter said.

"I have at this time no reason to doubt that the board can easily complete its consideration of the dispute and make its final recommendations some time next week, but however that may be, the

Destroyer Goes to the Bottom Off the West Coast of Iceland While Doing Convoy Duty

Warship Is First Lost Since European War Began; Berlin Response: "It Was No Wonder She Was Torpedoed"; No News of Fate of Crew

Washington, Oct. 31—(AP)—The United States destroyer Reuben James was torpedoed and sunk west of Iceland last night, the first American warship lost since the European war began, and President Roosevelt crisply told a press conference the attack would not change United States policy.

The hours passed with no news of the fate of the men aboard, while in London an authoritative British spokesman took the view that Germany had declared "indiscriminate submarine warfare against the United States."

Ordinarily the Reuben James carried 6 officers and 114 men. The 21-year-old destroyer was on convoy duty, the navy said and Roosevelt, in his discussion of policy, noted the specific fact that she was carrying out a duty assigned to her.

In Berlin an authorized source said that if the destroyer was participating in a convoy "it was no wonder that she was torpedoed."

Replying to a reporter's question, the President said he had not thought about the possibility of cutting off relations with Germany. Rep. Celler (D-NY) introduced such a proposal in the House yesterday.

Unlike the destroyer Kearny, which survived a torpedo blow amidship Oct. 17, but lost 11 men, with 10 others being wounded, the older Reuben James went to the bottom. The Navy said she was conveying in the North Atlantic.

Third Victim
The Reuben James was the third American warship fired at, the second to be hit and the first to be sunk since President Roosevelt ordered the Navy last month to "shoot on sight" any axis war-craft encountered.

Congress was stirred by the news. Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), who ranks among the leading opponents of the administration's foreign policy, told reporters that "America will protect her seamen, no matter what mission they are on."

Senator Capper (R-Kas) said, "This apparently brings us closer to a shooting war." And Senator Gurney (R-ND) declared "this clinches the argument" for wiping out the neutrality act.

"We can expect such things when our ships are in war zones," Senator Truman (D-Mo) commented.

Whether the Reuben James or any accompanying ships were able to wreak any damage was undisclosed. Secretary of the Navy Knox said this week that the Navy probably would not disclose any submarine sinkings by the fleet, following the British policy of disturbing axis morale by such secrecy.

Attacker Not Described
Whether it was a submarine, a surface vessel or a torpedo-carrying airplane which brought the Reuben James to its doom was not disclosed immediately.

In the absence of any word as to possible losses of life, the Navy (Continued on Page 6)

16 Illinois Farmers Seek Husking Honors

Weather is Uncertain Factor In Contest At Tonica

Tonica, Ill., Oct. 31—(AP)—Men who husk corn in any weather still talked of new records as 16 Illinois farmers lined up today at the edge of a tall and high-yielding field to fight for the 18th annual state corn husking championship at the start of an unprecedented harvest festival.

This morning the sun didn't come out, but a few umbrellas did and meteorological conditions were ripe for a good rain. Still in the air was the persistent drizzle that has coincided with Illinois corn week. It was hardly enough to wet city pavements, but boots and galoshes were standard equipment in the country. Temperature at 8 a. m. was 46 degrees.

The weather was an uncertain factor, but the Illinois men who make a sport of hard work insisted that only hard rains would hold down their scores in the state and national husking meets.

Slippery mud bothered thousands of spectators.

LINDBERGH SAYS NATION'S PERIL IS FROM WITHIN

New York, Oct. 31—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, appealing to an America First rally to unite behind a demand for "a leadership of integrity" in Washington, expressed the belief last night "that there is no danger to this nation from without—our only danger is from within."

Addressing an overflow crowd at a Madison Square Garden meeting, Lindbergh charged that the United States had been led "along the road to war," and that President Roosevelt and his administration "preach about preserving democracy and freedom abroad, while they practice dictatorship and subterfuge at home."

In addition to a crowd inside the Garden estimated by Police Captain George Rensselaer at 20,000 persons, a throng in surrounding streets, estimated by police at from 5,000 to 10,000, listened over loudspeakers to addresses by Lindbergh, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont) John Cudahy, former ambassador to Belgium, and John T. Flynn, chairman of the America First committee's

"We need England as a buffer against Germany, whether she is worth saving from an ideological point of view or not."

"To face Hitler alone we would need 50,000 airplanes, a 3,000,000-ton navy, an army of 6,000,000 and a defense effort amounting to $30,000,000,000 a year."

"The question today," he stated "is not to choose between war and peace, but to choose between fighting Hitler while we still have allies and waiting until we have to face him alone."

CHICAGO PROFESSOR SAYS WE NEED BRITAIN AS A BUFFER

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 31—(AP)—Paul Douglas, University of Chicago professor and Chicago alderman, urged sending of "armed merchantmen into the war zones and giving full aid to England and Russia" to remove "the danger of another AEF."

In an address before a University of Illinois audience and sponsored by the University Committee to Defend America last night, Douglas asserted "there should be no argument whether or not the British empire is worth saving." He added:

Germans Say Reds Retreat in Crimea

Berlin, Oct. 31—(AP)—The German high command declared today the Russians were in full retreat in the Crimea, pursued by German and Rumanian forces, and that Red army units in the Donets Basin also were being pushed back by the allied axis armies.

Outside Leningrad, where German military sources earlier had acknowledged that nazi armies were encountering tenacious Russian resistance the bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said several Russian attempts to break through the German lines had been smashed.

Specific mention of the progress of the drive on Moscow was omitted again, the communique saying only of other eastern front land sectors that operations are continuing.

Hurried Russian withdrawal before onsurging German ground and air might on the Crimean peninsula was described by the communique as the crowning

This Is Homecoming
The high school band, cheer leaders and faculty members, Miss Parrish and Miss Wible, gave the business section a pep meeting this afternoon, as a prelude to this evening's Homecoming celebration at the high school. Merchants have decorated their down-town display windows in keeping with the event, with emphasis laid on the football game with Rochelle's strong foe, Rock Falls, winners of last year's conference. Neither the Hubs nor the Rockets have lost a game this year. Quin Bowen of Rockford will furnish the music for the dancing in the Central school gym, which follows the football game.

Country Club Dinner Tonight

Have New Room
When Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson planned their new home which has recently been completed in the 1000 block of North Eighth street, they included a special room for the five-year-old Happy Hour kindergartners. These happy little boys and girls spent from 9 o'clock until 11:15 o'clock, five days a week, in a thrillingly beautiful room, planned especially for them. The well-heated room is approximately fifteen feet by twenty feet in size, has a sunny southern exposure, and well insulated walls. A special flooring has been built about three inches above the regular basement floor. The attractive walls are blocked in robin's-egg blue and yellow. Attractive and appealing panes of nursery rhymes decorate the walls.

A few playpieces of special delight include a six-room doll house, which is completely furnished even to the rugs on the floors, sandbox, and new easel boards.

In carrying out of the well-planned routine, Mrs. Carlson is assisted by Mrs. Alice Liszak, a comparative newcomer to Rochelle, who is a graduate of National College of Education in Evans-ton. Mrs. Carlson's own training and wealth of experience is well known here where she has conducted a kindergarten for several years.

This morning the tots thrilled at the Halloween dress-up party, to which they wore masks which they themselves had made earlier in the week.

Says Furniture Dealers Confronted With Danger

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 31—(AP)—Lorenzo Richards of Ogden, Utah, president of the National Retail Furniture association, says furniture dealers face two dangers next year but they will be able to carry on profitably if they watch business carefully.

Richards, speaking before the Illinois Retail Furniture Association, said the two dangers were government restriction of volume and threat of termination of the "so-called war boom, with resultant inflationary trends."

"What a Life" Is to Be First Play by Dramatic Club

"What a Life," a hilarious comedy dealing with the ever-present troubles of Henry Aldrich, has been selected as the season's first production by the Dixon High School Dramatic club, according to an announcement released today by Miss Olga Eneroth, director. Guatemala Is Affelds' New Post

—Telegraph Photo

The William C. Affelds and their young son, Bobby, pictured above, have been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hammond of 531 East Chamberlin street, since their return from Washington, D. C., where Mr. Affelds has just completed a temporary detail of five months to the department of state.

Mr. Affelds, former American vice consul in Kobe, Japan, leaves in November for a new post in Guatemala, Guatemala, where he has been assigned as third secretary of legation and vice consul. Mrs. Affelds, the former Miss Myrtle Hammond, and Bobby expect to leave later by airplane for their new home in Central America. Bobby, who was born in Kobe, will be 14 months old on Nov. 10, and is already an experienced traveler.

Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Affelds left for Minneapolis, where they will attend the Minnesota-Northwestern football game tomorrow.

CHILDREN AND OLDSTERS WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO MERRY JACK-O'-LANTERN THIS EVENING

Tonight is purportedly the spookiest night of the 365, with aviating witches, ebony-hued cats and other symbols of Halloween that are synonyms for fun and light-hearted merry-making which apparently nothing can replace. More than one Dixon home is prepared to share apples, candy, cookies and other refreshments in response to doorbelling and cries of "Trick or treat!" (And from past experience, it has been learned that failure to heed the warning may prompt a Halloween "trick" or two in reprisal).

Dixon's largest celebration of the once hallowed eve will be the Halloween dance which members of Company A, Illinois Reserve Militia, will be sponsoring in the Dixon Armory. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, with Carlier Lauer's orchestra entertaining. Noise-makers, confetti, and other favors will add to the merriment for the dancers, who are certain of enjoying themselves and at the same time, aid a worthy cause.

Company A is composed of 64 men and four officers, Capt. M. Brady, First Lieut. Raymond Worsley, Second Lieut. John Kennehan, and Second Lieut. Arthur Ray Wilson. John Cahill is general chairman, and Lyle Prescott is in charge of ticket sales.

Community-wide parties are being planned in both Oregon and Ashton, where old and young will participate in programs brimming with fun. Hundreds of townspeople are expected to turn out for these well-planned celebrations.

Members of the Junior Woman's club are to be hostesses at the party in Oregon, which is to be held at the Coliseum. The affair is to be open at 7:30 o'clock, and at least 30 awards will be distributed for outstanding masquerade costumes.

Participating organizations include the Oregon Better Business Association, Rotary and Woman's clubs, Parent-Teacher association, and Boy and Girl Scouts. Miss Nancy Allen of Rockford will bring several of her dance students to assist with the entertainment.

The Ashton event is also to be a masquerade, and is to be highlighted by a gigantic parade at 6:45 o'clock, which is to proceed along a flare-lighted route, led by a German band. At the school gymnasium, following the procession, a grand march will be held for judging of costumes and unmasking. Games, stage stunts, Halloween refreshments and old-time dancing will be provided.

Prizes will be awarded to the tallest, oldest and youngest persons in costume, also the grade student, high school student, and

GIRL SCOUTS HONOR FOUNDER

Oct. 31st is of particular significance to Girl Scouts, marking as it does the birthday anniversary of Juliette Lowe, founder of Girl Scouts in the United States.

Dixon Brownies and intermediate Scout troops have been celebrating the anniversary with a series of Halloween parties, with the Loveland Community House as the center of festivities. Witches, ghosts, pumpkins, and masquerade costumes have been part of the fun.

Tomorrow evening, senior Scouts will climax the party series with a sweater dance at the high school.

Each year, in Miss Lowe's memory, girls in all parts of the country give pennies to swell the Juliette Lowe Memorial fund, dedicated to the furtherance of Mrs. Lowe's dream of international friendship and understanding. Dixon Scouts contributed more than $10 to the fund this year.

The pennies have brought substantial help to the bombed children of Europe and Asia. The total, to date, includes an ambulance, two mobile canteens, equipment for air raid shelters, bales of shoes, underclothing, cloth, and knitting wool, supplies for the Girl Scout and Girl Guide hostel in London, special supplies for Polish refugee children and Chinese Girl Scouts.

LEAGUE PARTY

Young people of the Senior League, Bethel United Evangelical church, will be assembling at the Loveland Community House this evening for a Halloween masquerade. They are to meet in the west club room, downstairs, at 7:30 o'clock.

The social committee, composed of Mrs. Foster Thompson, Mrs. William Foster, and Mrs. R. S. Wilson, will be in charge.

Lee Center Pair Exchanges Vows at Church Altar

The impressive double ring wedding service of the Episcopal church was solemnized by the Rev. Father Harry P. Hilbish of Waterloo, Iowa Wednesday afternoon at the Lee Center Congregational church, when Miss Elaine Brasel, daughter of the John Brasels, became the bride of Pfc. Roland Ulrich, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ulrich.

The bridal pair stood beneath an archway of autumn foliage and rust and gold chrysanthemums, with seven-branch candelabra at either side, to repeat the vows in which Miss Brasel became the young draftee's bride.

Elaine's wedding gown was designed by herself and her mother, and was fashioned of ivory brocade satin, with a molded torso bodice, trimmed with a row of small buttons, long pointed sleeves, and a full floor-length skirt. Her fingertip and blusher veils of illusion fell from a pearl-trimmed tiara, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and pompons. She wore her grandmother's mother, and her mother's diamond pendant.

Miss Marie Brasel, as her sister's maid of honor, was wearing pale blue taffeta, with a net veil, and carried pink and white pompons. Their young sister, Jacqueline, was flower girl, and was dressed in a floor-length gown of peach-colored taffeta. Her colonial bouquet contained bronze and white pompons.

Donald Prescott of Dixon was best man for Mr. Ulrich. Ushers were Ralph Utch, Paul Hilbish, Pfc. Reuben McBride and Otto Gehant.

The bride's mother was dressed in blue velvet, and the bridegroom's mother chose wine-colored velvet. Their hats matched their dresses, and their shoulder bouquets were formed of yellow pompons.

Mrs. Raymond Degner was the nuptial musician. Her organ selections included "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Beautiful Dreamer," "Flower Song," "The Sunshine of Your Smile," and "Just Away in' for You," concluding with the Lohengrin wedding march. Douglas Riley sang a solo, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Degner, who played the Mendelssohn recessional as the bridal party left the altar.

Mrs. Earl Carlson and Mrs. Howard Wellman decorated the church for Wednesday's ceremony, which was followed by a reception. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. Esther Kaisted, Mrs. Wellman, Mrs. F. L. John, and Mrs. Earl Braymen.

In addition to the three-tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride, a tiny music box tinkled "Happy Birthday" to the bride from a cake baked by the bridegroom's mother. Miss Brasel was celebrating her twentieth birthday anniversary on her wedding day.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich were graduated from Lee Center Community high school. When the bridal pair left by motor for Camp Polk, Louisiana, where the bridegroom has been stationed for the

A Thought For Today
O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.—Psalms 25:2.

Faith builds a bridge across the gulf of Death, to break the shock blind nature cannot shun, and lands thought smoothly on the further shore.—Young.

Echoes of the Past
The American-born widow of Count Johann von Bernstorff has returned to her own country to spend her declining days. She has asked that the "Countess" and the "Von" be dropped and wishes to be known simply as Mrs. Bernstorff.

The return of the native summons up many echoes from the past and recalls what frail things are power and glory and popularity. Time was when Count Bernstorff, as German ambassador to the United States, was one of the favorite figures in Washington society. He was good-looking. He was greatly talented.

Then came the first World War. Doubtless the count had to do many things which were distasteful to him, but the kaiser was the big boss and orders were orders. And there were underlings who were not disturbed by any such finer scruples. There were, for instance, the egregious Franz von Papen, the same Von Papen who now does Hitler's dirty work in various countries. Von Papen was military attaché at the German embassy and undoubtedly had his hand in many cases of sabotage.

But there were other things that came closer to Bernstorff. His popularity in America slipped to the vanishing point and beyond, for he became a most hated man in this country. Nor when he got back to Berlin, was he any more popular there. His imperial master was angry with him. For Bernstorff had repeatedly warned the German government that unrestricted submarine warfare upon American shipping would be certain, sooner or later, to bring the United States into the conflict. He added for good measure that once America came in, Germany's cause was lost. Prophets of that kind are never public heroes. Bernstorff became a diplomat without a job.

When the German republic was formed, he became one of the leaders of the Democratic party and one of the active advocates of Germany's entering the League of Nations, but he was an unhappy man. He had aged beyond his years. Upon his careworn face were marked his anxieties about the tendencies he saw gaining ground in Germany. The aristocrat in him revolted when he saw the Nazi poison slowly but surely rising to the top. He got out of the fatherland in good time by going to Switzerland in 1932. Hitler came into power in 1933.

Death came to Bernstorff as a welcome caller. The Germany he knew and served seemed gone forever. All his dreams had crumbled into ashes.

Murder Most Foul
Assassination at any time is a hideous crime that must be condemned by all right-thinking people. The men and women who grieve over the fate of France can understand the provocation, but cannot condone the killing of German army officers by desperate Frenchmen, driven to frenzy by their Nazi conquerors.

But the Hitler gangsters have committed a crime that is being avenged. They are guilty only of being Frenchmen.

The death that is meted out to them is cold-blooded, deliberate murder. It is without sanction of law or justice as civilized men understand it.

It is under a code that dates back to the era of the Huns—a term the followers of Hitler bitterly hate, but which they are doing their utmost fully to earn.

Here's a Scoop
A baby one hour old knows all about the need of food. When he is hungry, he yells for it. If he gets cold, he howls once more. He has sense enough to know he needs clothing. When he gets sleepy, he has ways of indicating he wants to snuggle in his mother's arms or be safely and warmly tucked in his crib.

All of which leads up to the fact that not so long ago scientists, in convention assembled, solemnly proclaimed:

"The primary needs of man are food, clothing and shelter."

Hardly seems believable!

Another Hero Dies
Men who find the chains of tyranny too chafing to be worn are falling before firing squads throughout France these days so it isn't headline news when a citizen of that trampled land dies.

Yet Dr. Felix Lobligeois, whose passing rated small notice, probably was as heroic a figure as those brave men who resist their Nazi masters. Both of Doctor Lobligeois' hands had been amputated in an attempt to block the spread of radium poisoning which he contracted after 30 years' work with that marvel of medicine.

There probably was no surging crowd at his last rites such as would have attended services for a military leader or matinee idol. But the services of Doctor Lobligeois and his kind cannot be measured by the numbers who come to their funerals.

Doughboy's Clean Life
The post property officer at Fort Dix in New Jersey, where a large number of Uncle Sam's selectees are being trained for the Army, is getting writer's cramp. Half his time is consumed in scribbling requisitions for soap.

Not only did he recently ask for 25,000 cakes of face soap, but also for 135,000 tablets of laundry soap, 10 tons of dish-washing powder, and 13,200 pounds of soap grit for cleaning pots and pans.

It's pretty evident that when the Army gets through with them, all those lads are going to make excellent husbands. They will be able to launder a handkerchief and polish a pan with the best of them. That's national preparedness, that is.

● SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

THE STORY: Two murders at Paradise Lake reveal the old romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. Police are convinced sophisticated Herbert Cord was killed by gangster Stush Veretti, although Cord's death at first was attributed to Morris, whom he had courted for two summers only to bring Margie to Paradise. Second mysterious death was that of Miss Millie Morris, Police's stern spinster aunt, who kept looking in her heart for secret of a girlhood romance with someone who signed his letters "KIT." Other characters in the story are Liza Holmes, Miss Millie's maid who stays on with Jennie; elderly bookkeeper Chris Gordon; local editor Tod Palmer, in love with Jennie; Tod, Mary, Jennie, and Dennis spend a pleasant evening in the city. The next day Jennie and Mary find Liza's body hanging in the attic of the Morris home. She has been murdered.

MAUDIE ACTS:
CHAPTER XXIII
IT was a good thing that Jennie had a full night's sleep because from then on we seemed to live in a nightmare.

Liza's death went down on the record officially as murder and the next day traffic was heavy around Paradise Lake, with curiosity seekers driving up and down the roads stretching their silly necks to look at any of us who happened to stick our noses outside.

Dr. Orway shook his head in despair. He'd dropped in that morning with a tonic for Jennie, who looked so pale that Maudie had called him. She had gone out to his car with him after he'd left a prescription and they had a long talk.

"She'll probably stuff you with custards, beef broth and egg-nogs," I said. "Anyway she's been out there talking to him long enough to come back a full-fledged nurse."

But it would have taken more than food to help Jennie. The police were always there, either asking her questions, taking her back to the Morris house, or to the State Police Post.

And nasty rumors were going around. Denny confessed that, miserably enough, one evening when he took time off from chasing around with the forces of law and order to go rowing on the lake. Oh, yes, there was a moon and a perfect setting, but recent events didn't make for romance.

"There's so much damn gossip in little communities," he pointed out. "And so many things do look bad for the kid."

"But the police say that Stush Veretti killed Herbert Cord," I reminded him. Crime didn't fit in with the peaceful quiet of the lake. There was scarcely a ripple on the path made by the moonlight. Except for the gentle swish of the water made by the oars and the occasional soft quack of the ducks feeding over in the marshy section, there was no other sound.

"IT'S the Veretti angle that's knocked the whole picture cockeyed," he admitted. "We're sure Stush knocked Cord off. He hasn't confessed, but he'll go the hard way once the trial starts. He hasn't a chance to beat this rap."

"But then these others—as Maudie so sweetly points out—they aren't the work of the numbers boys. At least they shouldn't be because what harm could these two old women do them? Certainly if Miss Millie knew anything damaging about the Cord murder she'd have spilled it before she was knocked off. Stush Veretti was in the custody of the police before she was killed." He rested on the oars and we drifted along.

"If it weren't for my conviction that Veretti's guilty I might think there was something to this talk about Jennie Morris. Oh, I know what you're going to say," he told me before I could more than start to argue. "Sure, she's a swell kid. The picture of innocence; a nice girl, and tops with Tod Palmer."

"But I've seen some funny ones in my life. That little blond that stuck a knife between Tony Ram-moff's ribs was the kind that could model for a young mother ad. And Sadie Robins looked like a gentle old maiden aunt, yet she did a good carving job on her sister."

"Well, don't talk like this to Maudie," I warned. "She's had about enough of your crime deductions."

"She's got her own ideas about these murders," he threw his cigaret in the water and we headed back for shore. "I get a kick out of the way she figures things out. I'd like to know how she sizes this business up. I know she hasn't expounded her theories and that's not like her, but maybe you were right. I mean, she probably doesn't want to stick her chin out with any wild ideas. But I bet they'd be honeys. Maudie's detective story reading should make this a field day for her."

WE had a field day sooner than we'd expected. In fact, things seemed to have hit their peak the next noon when Officer Antler arrived. Quietly and no arguing, he announced he had come to see Miss Morris. He was taking her with him, he explained.

"You're under arrest, Miss Morris. Sorry it has to be this way, but the police aren't satisfied with your answers." He wasn't too hard-boiled and I think the sight of the girl's helplessness and the way her shoulders sagged made him dislike his errand. "It's just a legal move," he added. "Your attorney will handle things. It won't be so bad."

Personally, I didn't see how it could be any worse. Maudie was of no help. She sat there and wept. Because we didn't know how long Jennie would have to stay in jail, I managed to pack a few of her things in an overnight bag.

"But Denny and Tod will get you out," I kept repeating. "You mustn't give up. This really means nothing."

"It means everyone thinks I killed them. It means people have been staring at me and talking about me all these days and thinking I'm guilty."

She clung to me in the bedroom while I tried to get her to put on some rouge. "You—you don't think so, do you?"

"The ones who know you don't think so. I—I think the police just have to arrest someone. They've messed these cases up so horribly. They haven't uncovered a single clue and you know people are demanding action. The prosecutor's probably running for office this fall and he wants a chance to start something. It's always that way, Jennie. But your attorney, he'll know what to do."

She looked lone and forlorn as she left the cottage.

"I certainly hope her attorney'll know what to do," I repeated to Maudie while we stood looking after the car.

"Well, I'm not going to wait. I'm going to do something right now," she said, while I stared at her open-mouthed.

Cows Being Groomed For Record Milking Awaiting Them in '42

Dairy Farms Are Asked To Increase Production For Next Year

By WILLIAM FERRIS
Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Cows on American farms are being groomed, like a title contender prior to a championship fight, for the record shattering productive task awaiting them in 1942.

In next year's plans of the department of agriculture, statistics show that every cow on every farm will be called upon to increase her milk production 4 per cent over 1941.

Here is what the department expects in milk and milk derivatives in 1942:

1. Condensed and evaporated milk production 25 per cent higher than this year.
2. Cheese production up 33½ per cent over 1941.
3. A slight upturn in butter production.
4. An increase of 100 per cent in the production of dry skim milk for human consumption.

To attain these goals, cows will be called upon to produce about 125,000,000 pounds of milk compared with an estimated 117,000,000,000 pounds this year and a 107,000,000,000 pound average for 1936-40. If attained, it will be a record, and the increase in the number of cows on farms is not alone sufficient to do it.

Important Role
The role which the cow will play in food-for-defense is preeminent. Secretary of agriculture Wickard recognized this fact when he said recently, "of all the farm commodities of which increases are needed the most urgent need is for more milk."

Two major demands are expected to be met by the milk production program: First, increased domestic consumption created by higher purchasing power; second, large shipments to Great Britain under the lend-lease act in fulfillment of America's position as the "larger of democracy."

For these reasons the American cow, as she comes off pasturage for her winter in the barn, is having her diet carefully checked. The department of agriculture hopes she will be fed large amounts of grain and concentrated feeds.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Oct. 30.—Why John Lewis dared to take on Mr. Roosevelt for the apparently minor advantage of gaining a closed shop in big steel's few coal mines is no mystery to labor politicians sitting on the rim in the inner circle.

The apparently minor point of the strike was in reality the last niche into which Lewis needed to get his fingers in order to control completely steel, coal and autos, the nation's three largest industries. If he could win that point, he knew that he would be bigger than CIO.

The closed shop in those few mines would give him a stranglehold on big steel's source of fuel. The union—not the worker—owns the jobs under a closed shop, and in perpetuity. Able to cut off the fuel supply of big steel he could exert great personal power toward a closed shop upon the whole industry. (He was bought out of this demand before with a large wage increase from the companies.) Through his hold on steel and his personal control over the United Mine Workers, he could thus individually draw into his sphere of influence the auto industry, largest consumers of steel.

It was a gamble worth daring the wrath of the world.

Note—The fact that Lewis was trying to accumulate all this personal power, apart from CIO, furnished some weight to talk, long heard here, that he was preparing to walk out of the next CIO convention if the atmosphere became warm—and carry most of it with him.

Bitterness between Roosevelt and Lewis is real and deep. F. D. R. first agreed to deliver a radio speech before the A. F. L. convention until he happened to think he would have to do the same for the CIO, and thereupon cancelled it.

The senate fight on repeal of the neutrality act—the final step toward naval war—was the mildest yet. An air of resignation, among even the most antagonistic senators, was ill-concealed. Apparently they thought the country shared, at last, their supposition that the march of war was inevitable.

Senator Taft's ringing opposition speech drew not more than 70 letters the following day. No more than 15 senators were present to hear Senator Nye's keynote of warning about the course. The Democratic leaders were so confident, they left only three or four of their number on guard during most of the debate.

The peace women who annoyed proponents of the administration policy, when comparatively minor previous similar steps towards war were under discussion, were not in evidence.

Only aftermath of Mr. Ickes gas scare campaign is increased prices.

The government has made no announcement to that effect but you can ascertain at the bureau of labor statistics that the retail cost of straight gas has jumped in every eastern city except Pittsburgh between March 15 and September 15. (New York up 4.1 cents, Boston 3.1, Philadelphia 3.3, Baltimore 1.3, Washington 2.5, Savannah 1.2, Jacksonville 2.1, Scranton 2.6, Portland 3.5 and Atlanta 2.9). In all except Baltimore, Scranton and Washington this represents an increase above what Price-Fixer Leon Henderson said would be fair.

Bulk of these boosts came in anticipation of the program just before Ickes started. The increase afterward averaged under a cent.

Lodges
Grand Lodge — Tuesday evening's session of grand lodge at Dixon lodge, No. 39, was presided over by Grand Master Lyle M. Bittering of the Onarga Military school, and Grand Secretary Thomas P. Fields of Springfield. The past grand degree and grand lodge degree were conferred for a class of candidates.

The regular meeting of the host lodge followed the grand lodge session. The initiatory degree was exemplified by a staff from the Dixon lodge, preceding introduction of the following officers:

Claire Reigle, member of the finance committee; Grover Shirk, member of the Orphan's Home board; District Deputies, Deputy E. F. Barnes of Amboy; Edward Confer of Lindenwood, Raymond Folgate of Freeport, and John M. O'Hara of Sterling; Regional Director William Walmark of Sycamore; Grand Marshal Lester Lindsey; and Grand Master Bittering.

Approximately 125 members and visitors were present from throughout the state. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Balwin Auxiliary—Members of Baldwin auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, will meet in the G. A. R. hall at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

IRVING CRANE TOPS FIELD IN WORLD'S BILLIARDS MEET
Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Irving Crane, youthful Livonia, N. Y., cue expert who participated in his first world's pocket billiard championship tournament three years ago while on his honeymoon, topped the 1941 tourney today with six victories against one defeat.

Crane, regarded as the "dark horse" of the meet, gained undisputed possession of first place by upsetting Defending Champion Willie Mosconi, of Philadelphia, 125 to 75 in eight innings last night, while Jimmy Caras, of Wilmington, spilled famed Ralph Greenleaf, of Chicago, in decisive fashion, 125 to 24 in 13 innings.

Crane now holds half a game edge over second place Erwin Udolph of Cleveland, while Mosconi, Greenleaf and Caras are in a four-way tie for third place with Andrew Ponzi, of New York.

Crane held a big 108 to 16 edge on Mosconi before the champion had a 51 run to make the score more respectable. Caras likewise got away to big on Greenleaf, helped by a run of 60 that made the count 97-27. Greenleaf, 17 times former champion, failed to score in eight straight innings.

New Pension Plan For Judges Goes Into Operation

Retirement System Will Include Justices of All State Courts

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A new retirement plan for Illinois judges of the Supreme, Circuit, Probate, County, Superior, City and Municipal courts will become effective tomorrow.

Under the new law, sponsored by Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet and passed this year by the 62nd general assembly, judges will be eligible to retire on 25 per cent of their final rate of salary after 12 years on the bench or after having reached the age of 60.

The annual retirement annuity for those who serve longer than 12 years will be 25 per cent of salary plus 25-72 of one per cent of the final salary rate.

The act, known as the judges' retirement system, also provides retirement payments in case of disability. Eligible for participation in the plan are 284 judges now serving.

Participating jurists will contribute two and one-half per cent of their salaries to the retirement system during their service up to 18 years, after which no further payments are required and the balance of funds necessary to make retirement payments will be appropriated by the state.

Suppliants Pension Act
The new system suppliants the 1919 judges' pension act under which jurists in court of record were eligible for retirement payments amounting to 50 per cent of their salaries after 24 years of service and after reaching the age of 65.

All eligible judges will be included in the new system unless they specifically elect not to be included.

The new retirement system is to be administered by a board headed by Supreme Justice E. Murphy of Monmouth.

Other members of the board are Circuit Judges Joseph Burke of Chicago and W. G. Knoch of Naperville, Sangamon County Judge Harlington G. Wood of Springfield, and State Treasurer Warren Wright. A. S. Hansen, Chicago actuary, is secretary.

AP SCRIBE IS OUT ON LIMB

By HERB BARKER
New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Another whirl at the football guessing game, which is just about as scientific as roulette:

Minnesota - Northwestern: This should settle whether the Gophers once more are to rule the Western Conference roost. Injuries to key figures, notably Bruce Smith and Helge Pukema, may cost Minnesota plenty both on defense and offense. Northwestern, with a great crop of backs, may turn out to be more than a handful, but in the meantime this old conservative picks Minnesota.

Army-Notre Dame: Earl Blaik has developed a fine Army team whether or not it has been done with mirrors. Both teams are unbeaten and untied and this is an objective game for both. A hesitant ballot for Notre Dame.

Tulane - Vanderbilt: The Green Wave of Tulane defies analysis this season, but it seems to have the stuff to whip unbeaten Vanderbilt if it can click. Strictly out of the hat, Tulane.

Stanford - Santa Clara: Fairly even, but Stanford seems to have much the greater scoring power and gets the nod.

Penn-Navy: Both unbeaten although Navy was held to a scoreless draw by Harvard. This looks close but we'll take Penn.

Southern Methodist - Texas: S. M. U. is well-rested but it looks like it will take more than a rest to check the Longhorns, Texas.

Fordham-Purdue: Stringing along with Fordham's Rams.

Pitt-Ohio State: It will be happy day when this season ends for the Panthers. Ohio State.

Wisconsin-Syracuse: You figure this one. The coin spins and says ... Wisconsin.

Georgia Tech-Duke: Tech usually is troublesome for the Blue Devils but there's no possible selection but Duke.

Princeton-Harvard: First of the big three games, and the choice is Harvard—but the crimson better find some way to manufacture some points to go along with a stalwart defense.

Illinois - Michigan: The Illini have shown nothing comparable to Michigan's power, Michigan.

Michigan State-Missouri: Certainly no upset either way. Gambling with Missouri's attack.

U. C. L. A.-California: This gets worse and worse. Ready to duck, California.

Oregon-Washington State: Another of the same only more so.

How to read an ad.

HOW TO READ AN AD
By George B. Anderson

A woman friend of my wife's planning a Halloween party, decided to do her shopping for favors and decorations early. She went into a good department store and asked to see their stocks of hobgoblin and witch knickknacks.

The clerk showed her a few rather ordinary decorations and then pulled out a box, opening it with some tenderness. "Of course," she said, pride in her voice, "these are the best. These are the ones we're going to advertise."

The woman said, telling the story to my wife, that she hadn't thought much about it at first. Later, she realized what a boon to busy housewives the basic idea behind that clerk's statement was:

"Of course, these are the best. These are the ones we're going to advertise."

Every store likes to put its best foot forward, so naturally every advertiser uses his advertising space to tell us about the best values in his store. He may have a lot of "average" or "fair" things that he'd like to sell, but he wants to get your attention and your patronage, so his advertising doesn't talk about those things. It tells you about the BEST values; regardless of price range.

You could shop a good-sized store for a day and not know whether or not you had uncovered the best value in any particular item in that store—but you can shop the same store's advertising for five minutes and be sure that you have the information you want.

Good advertising assumes you are a hard-to-please customer, and it shows you the best that every advertiser can afford. In so doing, it saves you money and minutes.

THE PLOT THICKENS
The Play's the thing! As leading man Em Rorer does the best he can.
The plot? Ah, it's a mystery!
What team will gain a victory?
The villain? Sure, Old Man Upset.
Who's never failed to curse 'em yet.
The heroine? Well, we should shout!
Miss Lady Luck will help him out.

By EM RORER

Following Bob Hill who has just set an all-time high with his almost perfect forecasting, has turned out to be more of a job than I thought it would be, but as the old saying goes, he can still be beat, so here goes—

Big Ten

Minnesota vs. Northwestern—Here is one of the most important games of the day and will go a long way toward settling the outcome of the Big Ten. Minnesota's superior line play and excellent pass defense should settle this issue. Minnesota 21; Northwestern 7.

Michigan vs. Illinois—After a very discouraging loss to Minnesota last week, the Wolverines should take all their spite out on a fair but courageous Illinois line team. Michigan 28; Illinois 7.

Indiana vs. Iowa—Ankney & Company will fare worse than they did last week (apologies offered) and I think also that Indiana will provide a great trouble-maker for the rest of the Big Ten before the season is over. Indiana 21; Iowa 6.

Ohio State vs. Pittsburgh—Coach Brown will add more to his first year glory at Ohio State with a lopsided victory over a much pushed around Pittsburgh Panther. Ohio State 26; Pittsburgh 0.

Wisconsin vs. Syracuse—Pat Harder, one of the Big Ten's outstanding sophomores, will take care of this one in person, and will again prove to the east the supremacy of Middle-West football. Wisconsin 14; Syracuse 7.

Fordham vs. Purdue—The only loss of the day for the Big Ten in outside competition. As Frank Leahy of Notre Dame says, "The Rams are on the march." Fordham 14; Purdue 6.

Midwest

Notre Dame vs. Army—For the Irish this will be the turning point of the season, but I think they will successfully pull the army mule's tail again. My fellow White Sox fans (Jones, Hofmann, James, Phalen, Inc.) agreed on this one. Notre Dame 20; Army 10.

Nebraska vs. Kansas State—Lucky for me Nebraska is a major team, 'cause they will romp away with this one. Nebraska 32; Kansas State 0.

Missouri vs. Michigan State—Always one of my favorite teams. I couldn't help pick Missouri, but the score may be closer than I have predicted. Missouri 20; Michigan State 7.

East

Dartmouth vs. William & Mary—A breather for Dartmouth and the Indians will take this in stride looking forward to all-important Princeton. Dartmouth 24; William & Mary 0.

Penn State vs. N. Y. U.—New York has been up and down the ladder too much but this week I still think they will have a foothold on the bottom rung. Penn State 20; N. Y. U. 0.

Cornell vs. Columbia—Army took a lot of sap out of Columbia last week and they can't afford to lose it; against a better than average Big Red. Cornell 19; Columbia 6.

South

Duke vs. Georgia Tech—Once again Duke will prove it is one of really great teams of the south. The Ramblin' Recks will be far outclassed. Duke 26; Georgia Tech 0.

Alabama vs. Kentucky—Homecoming for Kentucky but it will be a disappointing week for the returning grads. The Crimson Tide still has a chance to finish among the top-notch teams of the south. Alabama 14; Kentucky 7.

Tulane vs. Vanderbilt—The Green Wave will finish the season strong, and shouldn't have trouble adding the Commodores' scalps to their many already successful raids. Tulane 21; Vanderbilt 7.

South West

Texas A. & M. vs. Arkansas—All the forecasters who want a winner pick the Aggies, so why should I be different? Texas A. & M. 27; Arkansas 0.

Texas vs. S. M. U.—Oh! You Texas! Many think this team will go to the Rose Bowl and they shouldn't have any trouble here. What a game if these two great Texas teams were to meet Thanksgiving. Texas 21; S. M. U. 7.

Far West

Washington vs. Montana—The Huskies got off to a bad start but will get in the win column this week. Washington 13; Montana 0.

California vs. U. C. L. A.—The Golden Bears haven't been too successful this year, but will salvage a little this week end. California 20; U. C. L. A. 7.

Stanford vs. Santa Clara—One of the most important games on the west coast. Last year Stanford's Rose Bowl champions had their most trouble with the Broncos, but on the other hand, Frankie Albert will still be there. And he's dynamite in anybody's language. Stanford 13; Santa Clara 0.

Next Week: JOE MILLER

CHICAGO BEARS VS. GREEN BAY

The Telegraph sports department was notified today that 5,000 bleacher seats at Wrigley Field in Chicago, where the Chicago Bears-Green Bay Packers football game will be staged Sunday afternoon, will go on sale Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. According to Rocky Wolfe, no holds will be barred and free-for-all rules will prevail when the gates are opened. The remainder of the seats in Wrigley Field have been sold for two weeks and the prospects point to an attendance of 46,500, the largest crowd ever to witness a National Football league contest. The game is scheduled to start at 1:30 and daylight saving time is no longer in effect in the Windy City.

MATCH GAMES

The week end brings out another schedule of match games for Dixon legions. On Sunday the Dixon Recreation Ladies will meet the Kewanee Ladies here at 2:30 and the Beier's Bread team of Kewanee will meet the Dixon Recreation men at the same hour. At Morrison Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the Reynolds Wire team of Dixon meets the Morrison Recreation.

GREAT-GREAT NEPHEW

"Birmingham Bill"—that's what they call him. He's Bill Schuler, great-great nephew of William A. Schuler of Dixon and is a sophomore tackle for Auburn college. Last Saturday his picture appeared in the Birmingham Age-Herald with the information "that only the fact being used a great deal more, for he is a brilliant prospect." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuler who are well known in Dixon.

BOWLING "BAWLS"

Repeat scores at the Dixon Recreation last night include those of Austin with 166-166; Auman with 110-110 and Legore with 136-136. Games over 200 were rolled by C. Hoyle 212; Hoelscher 205; Biggart 204; Loosli 201; Lawson 212; Brown 222 (he should be bowling with Doug Curran's team).

BACK TO MT. VERNON

Warren Walder, freshman football player at Cornell college who suffered a broken leg in the frosh game with Grinnell at Cedar Rapids last week-end, is now back at Mt. Vernon and may be addressed at Mermer Hall—why not write to him, youse guys and gals?

BASKETBALL GAME CANCELLED

Principal B. J. Frazier of Dixon high school learned today that because the Rockford high schools are to be closed until January 5 due to lack of funds, the basketball game scheduled with West High there on the night of January 3, has been cancelled. The East High game will be played here on February 27. That game was originally scheduled to be played there.

Princeton Gridders Here Tonight For Season Finale

LINDELLMEN SEEK TO SAVE PIECES OF 1941 SEASON

DeKalb - Sterling Game Highlights Circuit; Rockets at Rochelle

GAMES TONIGHT

Belvidere at Mendota
Sterling at DeKalb
Princeton at Dixon*
Mt. Morris at Polo*
Morrison at Oregon*
Rock Falls at Rochelle*
*Conference games.

There's a strange quality in the air this Halloween—ghosts of football seasons past will walk abroad and wonder what happened to get things in such a tangle. For instance, here are Dixon's Dukes winding up their season tonight almost before you've decided whether they are a better-than-average team or victims of bad breaks.

Tonight with galloping phantoms of other years romping the local gridiron, the 1941 edition of Coach Lindell's varsity will play Princeton in a contest which is about as predictable as where you'll find the front gate of Mrs. O'Malley's cow tomorrow morning after the pranksters have had their fling and the witches have sailed home on their broomsticks.

Seeking Honor

Tonight as the Dukes and Tigers battle each other here, each will be seeking some remnant of honor in the North Central conference. In the circuit thus far each team has won a single game in three. The Princeton team last week rolled over the Dewitzmen, 21 to 13, while Dixon counted a 6 to 0 victory earlier in the season. Thus each club won by a single touchdown margin.

However, in the total number of points scored in the conference Princeton has made 35 against 44 by the opponents while Dixon has counted only 6 against 27 by the foes.

And so it is that a fairly even match is expected here tonight between the varsity teams. Coach Foster Keagle of the visiting club has said that his squad has been drilling heavily on defense for tonight's encounter and that the team "has enough push for defense."

The Dukes, somewhat let down last week after battling Sterling through three scoreless periods only to lose on a last quarter score by the traditional rivals, is out tonight to recapture in a last minute stand some of the prestige which goes with the mention of "Dixon" in circles where football is discussed.

Preliminary Game

Opening tonight's show at the high school field the Dixon frosh-soph squad meets the Princeton Tiger Cubs for the championship of their division. Coach "Dutch" Winger, whose boys have won three of their circuit games, will meet a visiting squad which has won two and tied one. The preliminary encounter will start at 6 o'clock.

Although the Dixon-Princeton game is the main issue before the local fans, the real highlight of tonight's conference play is at DeKalb where Sterling and the undefeated Barbs will battle for the North Central championship. The game matches the defending Sterling champions against a strong club which last year didn't win a game but which this season (and with almost the same roster) has trampled down six foes. In the conference the Barbs have scored 58 points while their three foes have counted only 14.

Sterling, a team which grew stronger as the season got older, has counted 32 points against 13 by their rivals. The Sterling-DeKalb game is packed with dynamite, but a slight nod of favoritism goes to the Barbs who look better "on paper" if nowhere else.

Mendota vs. Belvidere

Mendota, fifth conference member, meets Belvidere tonight in a non-conference game with the former league member. The Dewitzmen from Mendota have gone without a single victory in the conference season but have scored two wins over outside competition and may be expected to do the same again tonight against the Belvidere visitors who have lost all of their six games to date.

Over in the Rock River conference there's real excitement, too. Another championship will be decided in the homecoming game at Rochelle where the defending titleholders battle the Hubs. Each team is undefeated in four conference games although the Hubs have lost two games against outside foes (DeKalb and Stockton). Rock Falls' powerful team, contending for state honors, has rolled over seven foes with a total of 190 points against 33 by their opponents.

Other Rock River conference games include Morrison (won 0, lost 4) at Oregon (won 2, lost 1) and tied 1) and Mt. Morris (won 1 and lost 3) at Polo (won 1 and lost 4). Amboy has an open date before encountering Morrison there next week in the season finale.

When storing away silverware, wrap the pieces individually to protect them from tarnishing.

Two Teams Still Share Lead in Chauffeurs' Loop

Still leading the Chauffeurs & Helpers Union League—the night-shift gang at the Dixon Recreation on Thursday nights—are the teams of Distilled Water Ice company and Walter Knacks. Last night each team won two games to maintain its hold on first place.

The Knacks spilled Prince Castle in two games. Leading the winners was Lawson with a 523 series and McIntyre's 494 topped the losers.

Distilled Water Ice won two games from Hey Bros. Topping the winners was Brown with 528 and D. Hey counted 493 for his quintet.

Old American took two games from Keeshin as J. Bubrick totaled 449 for the winners and Black was high for Keeshin with 474.

Dohrn Transfer won two games from Rock Island Transfer. A series of 439 by Burns was high for the winners and G. Loescher counted 423 for the losers.

Gophers' List of Cripples Worries Minnesota's Fans

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The bellwether of Minnesota's offense, Capt. Bruce Smith, won't start tomorrow's big gridiron battle with Northwestern's title-eyeing Wildcats—but he'll see plenty of action in an engagement expected to draw the biggest crowd in Gopher history into Memorial stadium.

This information, the most cheerful bit of news to come from Minnesota's big casualty ward all week, was a development which came after Minnesota's workout today. Smith, who has done nothing all week but job around after taking heat treatments for a knee twisted against Michigan, said the member had "loosened" up and felt much better.

The 65,000 fans scheduled to be on hand will see Bill Daley, the Big Ten's leading ground gainer, in Smith's left halfback position at the kickoff. But Smith, spark-plug of Minnesota's offense this year, is expected to be sent into action at the first scoring opportunity.

Not So Cheerful News on other Gopher cripples wasn't so cheering to Minnesota supporters. Helge Pukema, star guard, definitely is out of the picture, while Herman Frickey, star sophomore back who scored the touchdown that beat Michigan last week, is not expected to enter the battle.

Doubt whether Smith will be able to stand much rough going—and the absence of Pukema—has dropped the Western Conference champions from their favorite's role into an even-money choice with the invaders. Northwestern's backfield strength—centered around Bill De Correvont and Otto Graham—has made the Wildcats the choice of many observers to knock the Gophers out of the undefeated and untied class and wreck their hopes for a claim to the national title. Northwestern, playing a six game conference schedule to Minnesota's five game card, will be a heavy favorite for the Big Ten crown if it takes Minnesota tomorrow.

Mother Shipton—How many of our subscribers read Mother Shipton's prophecies in last evening's Telegraph? It was on page 9.

Bradley Tech and North Central Face Serious Challenges

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Bradley Tech and North Central, two of the state's three undefeated and untied football teams, will face a serious challenge tomorrow to their winning streaks.

Bradley, which whipped New Mexico Aggies Saturday and polished off Arkansas Aggies Monday, will invade the north country to engage the University of North Dakota. Bradley has won five games, scoring 172 points to 13 for the opposition.

North Central probably will face an even tougher assignment, playing Lake Forest on the latter's home field. Lake Forest has won four games and tied Wabash in a fifth with the T-formation as interpreted by Ralph Jones, once coach of the Chicago Bears. North Central has won four straight, allowing only one touchdown.

Heavy Favorite Millikin, the other undefeated and untied eleven, is a heavy favorite to notch its sixth straight against eastern Illinois Teachers, who have won no games in four years. Millikin, leader of the Illinois College Conference with four triumphs, has yielded seven points while scoring 139.

Only two other teams in the state are undefeated, but have been tied. Western Teachers, tied by Southern Teachers, will play at State Normal, defending champions in the Illinois Inter-collegiate conference. Northern Teachers, tied by Ball State, will play at Southern Teachers. Northern is the leader of the conference. Other games this week end include:

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Peace and Rest Are Rewards for Life Lived in Justice and Righteousness

Text: Galatians 6:7, 8; I John 1:5-2:6

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

At the moment of writing, many columns in the daily papers in the city where I live are filled with the story of a former sheriff, who allegedly betrayed his trust by dishonest and dissolute practices in the jail over which he presided, and by extortion from employes over whom he had authority. For nearly two years the man has been a fugitive from justice and has managed to elude all effort to apprehend him.

An arrest for drunken driving in far-off California has led to his identification, and the news is that he will be brought back to Boston to face indictment. The culprit is reported to have said that he is glad the strain is over. He is apparently broken in health, at the end of his ill-gotten financial resources, and in every way a sorry figure.

As I have read these news columns, that verse in the Bible which comes from the early history of Israel came to my mind. "Be sure your sin will find you out," and the equally strong pronouncement, "The wages of sin is death."

Here is our lesson Paul, writing to the Galatians, puts the whole thing equally clearly. There is, of course, much in life that seems to contradict these declarations concerning the results of sin and evildoing. The Biblical writer referred to this when he said that he had seen the wicked flourishing and "spreading himself like a green bay tree." Perhaps it was because some of these early Christians, suffering for conscience's sake and seeing others apparently in ease and contentment, may have been tempted to think that after all righteous living did not pay, that led Paul to be so specific about it. He warned them not to be deceived, that God is not mocked, that whatever men sow they reap. It is true that we live in a world where the innocent suffer with the guilty. Jesus never promised His disciples a calm or easy way. He did promise them rest and peace. It is this that constitutes the difference between those who suffer for righteousness sake, or an innocent victims of the wrongdoing of others, or from some innocent cause, and those who suffer because of their evildoings.

It is not in reference to one case, or in the columns of a single paper, that all this is made plain. The records of sin and penalty are innumerable. Not long ago, in England, a man died by his own hand, who was a self-made millionaire. There was much in his energy and ability that was commendable, but he chose the way of evil living. When he killed himself, owing several million dollars in debts, he left a note not unnaturally expressing the view that all men were greedy cultures.

How different is the way of the righteous, and how well this way is expressed in the contrast between darkness and light, which John has given us in his first Epistle. The way of darkness is the way of lying and destruction, but the way of light is the way of cleanness and honor and good fellowship. John reminds us that we are never entirely free of evil, that if we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves, but he does not say that even with our sinful tendencies, like us, to walk in the light and to have fellowship one with another, as we seek the companionship and help of Him who is the light of the world.

W.S.C.S. will meet in the church study at 3:30 p. m. on Thursday.

On Sunday, November 9th, the new pipe organ that is now being installed in the church will be formally dedicated. The Ritualistic Dedication and sermon will occur at the 10:45 a. m. service hour and then at 7:30 p. m.
